Second Floor

Hallway running through the middle of the space with rooms on each side. The second floor has its own kitchen, bathroom, and toilet as well as a large communal dining room and living space. At the end of the hall on this floor, there is a large open area featuring a kitchen and communal space that could be used as an eating area, bar, or similar function.

Second Floor

The two current bedrooms. Both are spacious enough for a double bed or twin, triple bunks.

Second Floor

The twin tatami room is currently used as a dining and living room space. This versatile area could also easily serve as another bedroom or be divided down the middle into two separate rooms, then utilized as two bedrooms.

Second Floor

At the end of the floor is this large open space that has its own kitchen. Great as a communal cooking and eating space.

Third Floor

The third floor is dedicated entirely to bedrooms. It features three large, spacious rooms, each capable of accommodating multiple beds. Additionally, there is a bed located at the end of the hallway in a curtained-off open space area (not visible in the images).

This building has the capacity to host a significant number of guests, presenting an intriguing opportunity to develop a distinctive style of accommodation.
